

Brief CV of Eirini Tagkalaki

She has graduated from the University of Athens, department of Political Science & Public Administration, school of International and European Studies. She has recently obtained a MSc in Politics and Government in the European Union from the LSE, the Centre of Russia and Eurasia of the Institute of International Relations and at the Institute of International Economic Relations. Previous activities include working at the Ministry for Foreign Affairs, the Hellenic Centre of European Studies, the Institute for European Integration. She has also worked as a journalist. She speaks English and French fluently and has a standard level in Russian and Spanish. She is interested in the EU's energy and foreign policy.